

The Leeds Innovation Fund replaces the Leeds Transition Fund that has been funded by Leeds City Council since 2011. The change in name reflects the change in emphasis of the funding priorities and, whilst some transition activity may be funded, the scheme will focus on new ways of innovative working that support delivery of the best city priorities. This might be by: working in a different way; implementing new ideas and methods; working in partnership to tackle an issue; or working with different partners.
