

NHS Leeds South and East Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG) has invested £1 million to improve health and wellbeing across the South and East of the city in a grant scheme accessed through Leeds Community Foundation. The 12 month programme aimed to help the CCG deliver its ambitious plans to reduce the gap in outcomes between the most affluent and most deprived areas of the city. Grants were awarded to improve health and wellbeing, prevent ill-health and ultimately enable local people to lead healthier lives. Funding supported a range of projects, from developing services to building new partnerships in health or involving local people in community activities surrounding health and wellbeing.
